Dixon Public Library Policy Manual

Section 6: Collection Management and Use

A. Collection Selection and Management Principles

1. The Board of the Dixon Public Library, in order to serve the whole community in the diversity of its needs, declares that the selection of all materials and acceptance of gifts shall be based on the following principles:
 - i. The Board expresses approval of and accepts the principles in the “Library Bill of Rights” (Appendix A).
2. The Library Director shall select and discard all books and other library materials in accordance with this policy, using the assistance of the staff, without outside interference, and following good, accepted library practice.
3. The Library’s collection of materials is a shared resource purchased by the taxpayers of the City of Dixon, fee paying non-residents, and the various providers of grants, memorials, and donations. It is necessary to adopt a policy for the circulation of these materials in order to allow for their availability to the widest number of patrons.
4. The Library maintains collections including, but not limited to, books, audio books, video discs, periodicals, kits, and a Library of Things of non-traditional items.

B. Freedom to Read

1. The Board upholds the principles laid out in the “Freedom to Read Statement” as endorsed by the American Library Association as they have bearing on the responsibilities and functions of libraries, their boards, and directors, (Appendix B).
2. Censorship must be exercised by patrons for themselves. The Board of Directors and the Library Director cannot restrict the selection of the patron, and neither can the patron restrict the freedom of selection of other patrons.
3. While everyone is free to reject materials that they do not approve of for themselves and their children, they cannot restrict the freedom of others to choose what to read, hear, or view. A diverse collection is important. Material will not be excluded because of the race, nationality, religion, gender, sexual orientation, political or social view of either the author or the material.

C. Staff Commitment to Selection Responsibilities

1. The Library Director and Library Board require selectors to adopt certain basic and minimal practices as a prerequisite to effective selection and collection management.

Dixon Public Library Policy Manual

- a. Diligently examine and keep apprised of reviews, prepublication lists, publisher's catalogs and announcements, standard biographies and other sources which serve as the basis for responsible selection.
- b. Develop and maintain a familiarity with and regularly as well as systematically assess the strengths and weaknesses of those sections which fall within their respective areas of responsibility. Selection of individual titles must take place within the context of purposeful collection management.
- c. Cooperate and collaborate with one another to assure that the combined effort is both integrated and comprehensive.

D. Free Access to Library Materials

1. Selection guidelines do not guarantee that each item purchased for the Library's collection is suitable for each person who may choose to select it. Young people under the age of 18 have free access to materials from the adult collection, and parents may choose to advise their children in making an appropriate selection.

E. Reconsideration of Resources

1. Patrons wishing reconsideration of Library resources will be asked to fill out a Library Resources and Displays Reconsideration Form (Appendix E). The form shall be submitted to the Library Director. The patron must print their name clearly and provide their full address.
2. Any patron wishing reconsideration of Library resources must be a resident of the City of Dixon or an active non-resident card holder.
3. In accordance with the determination outlined in FOIA Request for Review 2022 PAC 73112, the personal and private information on these forms will be held in the strictest confidence and shall be redacted from any copies of the forms shared with the board and released to the public.
4. The Library Director and appropriate Library staff shall meet and carefully review the materials under consideration. The Director shall notify the patron originating the reconsideration request in writing.
5. If an individual is not satisfied with the action taken, they may appeal to the Library Board by contacting the Library Director, requesting for the item to be placed on an upcoming Library Board meeting agenda. The Board will review the material questioned, the Reconsideration of Library Resources Form, and findings of staff reviewing the item.
6. The decision of the Board of Trustees shall be final. No Request for Reconsideration will be considered for 24 months following a board decision on the same material.

F. Loan of Materials

1. Loan Limits Per Library Card: 20 Books; 4 DVD's; 4 Magazines; 4 CD's; 4 Audiobooks; 4 items for the Library of Things; 2 Youth Busy Bags; 2 Youth STEAM Kits
2. Loan Period: All items are checked out for 14 days. Patrons may renew items for an additional 14 days unless the item is on hold for another patron. Items may be renewed in person, by phone, or online. Any items not returned or renewed by the patron after 14 days will be automatically renewed by the library for an additional 14-day period. Materials are generally not eligible for additional renewals but staff may make exceptions based on circumstances.
3. Certain materials in the collection are restricted from circulation due to their status as a reference item, their value, or their rarity only.

G. Return of Materials

1. When material is not returned in a timely fashion, other patrons are unable to access that material. When material is returned late, damaged, in need of cleaning, or not returned at all other patrons are inconvenienced and the library incurs additional expenses as materials must be repaired or cleaned, or new materials must be purchased and staff time must be used to locate, order, and catalog the replacement materials.
2. The return of materials can be made by patrons at any time during the library's opening hours to either the adult or youth circulation desks. In addition, patrons may use the library's two book drops for the return of materials with the exception of Library of Things materials, youth Busy Bags/STEAM Kits, and any large or bulky items marked with a "Please do not return in book drop" sticker. These items must be returned to the circulation desks due to risk of damage. The book drops are located (1: walk up only) outside the main front door of the library at the north-east corner of the building and (2: drive-up) at the north-west corner of the library building at the end of the drive-up lane at the edge of the parking lot.

H. Notifications of Overdue Status

1. Material that is not returned or renewed by the borrower within the initial two-week loan period will be automatically renewed for one additional two-week period by the library. Patrons will receive an emailed renewal notice. Materials are generally not eligible for additional renewals but staff may make exceptions based on circumstances.
- 2 Two weeks (14 days) after the automatic renewal, material not returned to the library will go to an overdue status. Library staff will send an email or attempt to make a courtesy call to remind the patron the material is overdue.

I. Charges for lost and damaged items and suspension of privileges

1. After the material is 28 days overdue, it will be considered lost. The patron's borrowing and computer use privileges will be suspended until all materials are returned or paid for. A letter will be sent to patrons with lost materials. This letter will advise the patron that further collection action may be taken if the materials are not returned or paid for.

2. Patrons will be required to pay the current retail price for replacement of lost or damaged materials which are still available from the library's usual material vendors, or a price not to exceed $50.00, based on the original purchase price, for items unavailable from those vendors. An appraised price will be used for rare or valuable items held in the library's special collections. The amount charged for the replacement of lost or damaged interlibrary loan materials will be determined by the lending library.
3. The library will not accept items purchased by patrons as adequate replacements for lost or damaged materials.
4. Once a lost or damaged item is paid for it becomes the property of the patron and may not be returned to the library. If the item is found by library staff, the patron will be reimbursed for any lost or damaged item fines.
5. The Director will have the discretion to reinstate privileges before payment in full, if the Director determines that special circumstances exist and appropriate arrangements have been made with the patron, or if the Director suspects an error has been made by library staff or agencies.
6. Patrons will be charged $10.00 if items from the Library of Things require cleaning.

J. Library Theft Policy

1. When appropriate under State statutes or local ordinances, the Director will have the discretion to pursue charges for theft of library materials which were borrowed but not returned.

K. Library of Things: Borrowing Rules, Proper Use and Liability

1. Only patrons with an active adult borrower's card may borrow items from Dixon Public Library's Library of Things.
2. Use care when handling the Thing. The borrower is solely responsible for the Thing and will be billed for reasonable repair or replacement costs associated with damage or loss of Things and/or peripherals due to neglect or abuse. The Library has sole discretion in making these decisions.
3. Objects lent out by the Library through its Library of Things program must be checked out from and returned to the Adult Desk of the Dixon Public Library.
4. A list of replacement costs of Things is maintained by the Library and can be requested or can be found at www.tinyurl.com/dpllot. A list of replacement costs will also be provided.
5. Dixon Public Library is not responsible for any injury, loss, or damage that may occur from use of a Thing.

6. It is the borrower's responsibility to protect against loss. Staff will inspect Things prior to borrowing and again upon return. Return the Thing with all parts and components in the original library container. Patrons will be responsible for any damage to a Thing while in their possession.
7. Any item in the Library of Things may not be used by any other person except by the written permission of the Dixon Public Library.
8. Before borrowing any tool or piece of equipment, the borrower shall sign a form or WAIVER AND INDEMNIFICATION to be provided by the library, which will be kept on file at the Dixon Public Library. The borrower acknowledges that he or she is capable of using the tools in a safe and proper manner.
9. The borrower agrees that the Dixon Public Library is not responsible for any manufacturing defects in quality of workmanship or materials inherent in any borrowed tools.
10. The borrower agrees that if the borrowed tool becomes unsafe or in a state of disrepair, the borrower will immediately discontinue use of the tool and return it to the Dixon Public Library.

L. Library Displays and Exhibits

1. Library staff regularly create displays of books and other resources. The purpose of these displays is to keep the public informed of the materials held by the library and to provide opportunity and encouragement for people to use the library's services and materials, in accordance with the library's mission statement. The inclusion or exclusion of a book or other resource is not indicative of the library's opinion of that item. Posting a notice or placement of the materials in a display does not imply endorsement by Dixon Public Library staff or Board of Trustees. Occasionally displays are created to align with community interests, current events, holidays, anniversaries, or other observances. It is not possible for the library to acknowledge every observance every year, and any lack of acknowledgement is not an indicator of the library's values or priorities. Patrons and organizations may recommend display topics and content, but library staff have the ultimate authority when creating displays.
2. The Library displays materials from its own collections to provide materials for exhibitions on a variety of topics and interests, appealing to the diverse interests and concerns of the community. Exhibit and displays should complement Library collections and services.
3. The planning and scheduling of such displays and the decision as to which materials and posters will be included is entirely at the discretion of the Library's staff.
4. New Materials are constantly on display at the Library, on a rotating basis, changing approximately every three months.

Dixon Public Library Policy Manual

5. Because displays, bulletins boards, and exhibits are seen by anyone who enters the Library, the Library does not allow material containing images that include significant elements of sexually explicit imagery, nudity, or graphic depictions of violence.

M. Reconsideration of a Display or Exhibit

1. The Library recognizes the right of individuals to question materials displayed in the library. An individual questioning materials on display is free to ask appropriate members of the library staff about such materials and such staff members are encouraged to discuss the matter. An individual still questioning displayed materials may state his/her opinion in writing on a Request for Reconsideration of Display, which will be provided by the Library. After the form is filled out and returned to the Library Director, appropriate staff members, designated by the Library Director, will review the statement and material in question. The staff members and the Library Director will determine if the materials under consideration meet the criteria of this policy and will reply to the individual in writing as soon as practical.
2. If not satisfied with the Director's determination, an individual may request in writing, addressed to the President of the Board of Trustees, that the Board also review the material and decisions made in regard to it.
3. All materials displayed under this policy are considered constitutionally protected unless a court with appropriate jurisdiction determines otherwise and all appeals have been exhausted. In the event that a complainant charges that a particular display is not protected under the First Amendment of the Constitution, the burden of proof rests with the complainant.
4. Materials under question will remain on display as scheduled or until a determination is made.

Barge, died 1921, was a Chicago lawyer, attorney for the Chicago Burlington and Quincy Railroad, who was also an Illinois historian, having written pamphlets concerning the origin of all the Illinois counties, and a history of Early Lee County. Frank E. Stevens was a lawyer, banker, newspaper editor and writer based in Illinois. Stevens was born and educated in Dixon, Illinois. He studied law in Sycamore, Illinois, and was admitted to the bar in 1877. After spending time in South Dakota and Chicago 1907, Stevens returned to Sycamore where he published the Dixon Weekly Citizen and later the Sycamore Tribune. He retired in 1928 and was elected mayor of Sycamore in 1931. Governor Horner appointed Stevens to the War Records Division of the office of the Adjutant General. Stevens was a historian who authored several historical works including The Black Hawk War and a History of Lee County. The Library still holds many items donated by Mr. Barge's brother Charles, and by Mr. Stevens' daughter Grace Stevens Hicks.

C. Scope of Collection

The Collection is a repository of primary and secondary source material that furthers the understanding of the civic, social, religious, cultural, political, and economic life of Dixon, Lee County, and Illinois. The Collection gathers, organizes, catalogs, and makes accessible to the public documents and publications that reflect activities, events, places, organizations, institutions, and services of the community of Dixon.

D. Limitations and Restrictions

The Collection strives to preserve the material it collects and to make it available to the public. Nevertheless, due to HVAC and physical space limitations, the Collection cannot serve as a climate controlled archive for valuable or delicate items.

Dixon Public Library Policy Manual

Donated items may be transferred to the Lee County Historical and Genealogical Society or other appropriate agencies such as the Abraham Lincoln Presidential Library and Museum when appropriate.

The Collection does not serve as a legal repository for any material, including State, County, City or School material, and is not responsible for selecting, retaining, or providing access to any material required by law to be kept as official documents or archival records.

5. Accession

All materials accessioned into the collection must fit within the scope detailed above. In addition to informational content, the Library will only accept donations of materials that will not harm other materials in the collection. If the Library cannot provide the care or conservation that an item requires, the Library will not accept that item. Items with extensive copyright stipulations, inaccessible A/V formats, or conditions that severely restricts public access will not be considered.

The Library welcomes unrestricted gifts and donations of materials or money for the enhancement and maintenance of the Collection. Gifts of material to the Library Collection will be accepted with the understanding and agreement that they become the property of the Library and may be deaccessioned according to the guidelines of the Collection Management and Use Policy. All donations of materials to the Collection are outright and unconditional gifts to be used at the discretion of the Library. Title to all objects acquired shall be free and clear, without restriction to use or future disposition. The donating agency or individual is responsible for determining the legal status and value of any and all items donated to the Library.

Final authority in the accessioning of materials rests with the Director designee

6. Deaccession

To maintain relevant content and a healthy environment for preserving the Collection, materials may be periodically removed. The deaccession process shall be cautious, deliberate and scrupulous. If a decision is made to deaccession an item, efforts will be made to see the item preserved at another suitable institution.

Examples of why materials may be reconsidered for the collection include, but are not limited to:

- The material or object is outside the scope of the Collection.
- The material or object lacks physical integrity.
- The material or object has failed to retain its identity or authenticity.

- The material or object is a duplicate and without intrinsic value.
- The Library is unable to preserve the material or object properly.
- The material or object has doubtful potential utilization in the foreseeable future.
- Final authority in the deaccessioning of materials rests with the Director or designee.

7. Patrons Served by the Collection

The collection serves the general public, scholars, students, and professional historians by providing access to valuable material for research and personal use.

8. Access/Use

The Collection is intended to be used to disseminate knowledge of the history of the City of Dixon, Illinois. As such, the Library strives to provide access as staffing and resources allow. Physical access to historical materials may be limited due to staff availability, so requesting a research appointment by emailing maillibrary@dixonpubliclibrary.org is recommended. In cases where technology is needed for accessing materials, training with staff may be necessary prior to the research appointment. Efforts to increase perpetual accessibility will be made through digitization projects.

Any individual, organization, or business wanting to reproduce materials housed in the collection must obtain explicit permission from the Library. Once approved, use of our in-house copier is available to users at charges outlined in policy.

Those items with call numbers starting with LH (Local History) are available to be checked out. These are available on the east side of the 1900 building. Those beginning with LHR (Local History Reference) can be consulted in the library but may not be checked out. Many of these are available for consultation on shelves next to the LH collection. Items marked as “Adult desk”, including yearbooks, city directories, telephone books, plat books, pamphlets, and manuscripts can be consulted at the adult circulation desk on request. Items marked “Vault” may also be requested but it will take a few minutes to retrieve them for you.

Section 10: Summer Temporary Cards

Library cards are based on residence. If a child is living with a Dixon resident for the summer, they can get a temporary summer card at no charge to participate in the Summer Reading Program.

A temporary library card is available for any child up to the age of 18 living outside of the Dixon city limits * who wish to participate in the Summer Reading Program. This card is valid from May through August. The cost is $10 for each child. A family membership may be purchased for $60 for a full year (effective 1-1-16).

If the child has a library card from a library that is part of the RAILS system, they may register as a reciprocal borrower to check out books from our library. If the child is unable to attend the Summer Reading Program at their home library, they may pay the $10 temporary fee to participate in our program.

The Dixon Public Library is a municipal library and is supported by a portion of property taxes paid by those who live within the city limits of Dixon.

Dixon Public Library Policy Manual

Section 11: Unattended Children

A. Purpose

The Dixon Public Library is a valuable community resource of materials, information services, and programs. As a public institution, its doors are open to all regardless of origin, age, background, and views. Staff members are concerned when parents leave their young children alone or in the care of a slightly older sibling or friend. A slightly older child left in charge can be easily burdened by this responsibility. Sometimes children stay at the library for many hours or wait here after school until a parent picks them up. Often, they become bored or restless which leads to disruptive behavior that interferes with the legitimate library business of other patrons and staff. While we try to create a safe, enjoyable library experience for our youngest patrons, the staff should not be placed in the position of supervising children who are too young to be unattended or whose behavior indicates that they have stayed at the library for too long a time. For the safety and protection of young children and for the benefit of all, the Dixon Public Library has developed the following rules.

B. Children, Ages 8 and Under

These children must be accompanied by an adult caregiver. The library assumes no responsibility for an unattended child. The caregiver must stay with the child, unless the child is participating in a program. In that case, the caregiver must stay in the library.

C. Self-Supervised Youth, Ages 9 and Up

These children are welcome to use the library as long as their behavior is in accordance with the behavior policy. Parents should not view the library as an alternative to daycare. Unlike a daycare facility, the library is not a closed environment. Staff cannot monitor everyone who enters, and all patrons are free to use any public area within the library. For safety's sake, parents should make sure that their children are sufficiently mature before allowing them to visit the library by themselves. Parents should be advised that if their children misbehave, they might be told to leave the library and the library grounds. Parents should further realize that, even in their absence, they are legally responsible for their children's behavior.

D. Closing Time

Children must leave the library at closing time. The staff is not responsible for the safety of a child once the library has closed. If a child is at the library after closing time and attempts to contact the parent have failed, the Dixon Police Department will be called to take responsibility for the child.

Section 12: Displays and Exhibits

A. Public Use of Library Display Space

1. Display space may be available for public use to promote the welfare or educational enlightenment of the community.
2. Arrangements for displays should be made in advance with the person responsible for the calendar of displays to ensure continuity, variety, and seasonal appropriateness.
3. The usual time limit for displays is four weeks, but this can be extended or limited at the discretion of the Library Director.
4. Placement of displays or exhibits must be mutually agreeable to both the Library Director and the exhibitor, and should in no way interfere with the normal operation of the library.
5. All materials displayed will be given reasonable care and protection, but the Library does not assume responsibility for damage or loss, nor for the costs of insurance coverage.

Dixon Public Library Policy Manual

Section 13: Faxing and Scanning

A. Public Access Scanning

1. The Dixon Public Library at the discretion of the Director of the Library or designees may accommodate a request of a Dixon Public Library Patron to send a scanned document by email.
2. Library staff may review scanned documents for copyright compliance.

B. Public Access Faxing

1. The Dixon Public Library at the discretion of the Director of the Library or designees may accommodate a request of a Dixon Public Library Patron to send a document by facsimile transmittal within the United States.
2. By prior arrangement and at the discretion of the Director of the Library or designees, the Library may accommodate a request to receive documents via fax. A cover sheet specifying the name, address, and phone number of the intended receiver should accompany each document sent to the Library facsimile machine. In the absence of name, address and phone number of the intended recipient and prior arrangement with the library, no facsimile messages received will be forwarded. Fax messages will only be held at the Library for three days after receipt.
3. Public access faxing will be performed by staff as soon as is practicable.
4. Any library patron who requests that a document be faxed or that the Library receive a faxed document should be aware that:
 - a. The library shall not be responsible in any way for the failure of the document to be received by the intended recipient, whether by reason of transmission error or otherwise;
 - b. The privacy and security of the faxed transmission cannot be guaranteed.

C. Fees for Scanning and Faxing

1. Faxing fee (sending and receiving): $2.00 for the first page and $1.00 for each additional page to defray telephone expense and staff time.
2. Scanning Fee: $2.00 for the first page and $1.00 for each additional page (up to 11 x 17- inch sheet) to defray the cost of staff time.
3. These fees will be waived if documents are being faxed or scanned to a government agency, or third-party agency that works in conjunction with government agencies.

Responsible Parties are expected to guide their children in the use of the Internet and inform them about materials and resources to avoid. While the Library affirms, and acknowledges the rights and responsibilities of Responsible Parties to determine their children's access to Library materials and resources, including those available through the Internet, the Library has the following policies and procedures designed to assist in the safe and effective use of the Library's computers and the Library's Wi-Fi by minors:

Ultimately, Responsible Parties are solely responsible for the content accessed by their minor children.

E. Disclaimer

1. Patrons should be aware that the Internet, the Library's computers, and the Library's Wi-Fi are not secure media and that third parties may be able to obtain information regarding the activities of patrons. Patrons using the Library's computers and the Library's Wi-Fi for personal transactions, such as banking, do so at their own risk. The Library does not and cannot guarantee privacy and the security of any personal information when using the Library's computers and the Library's Wi-Fi. Further, to the extent required by law or as determined necessary for the proper operation of the Library, the Library reserves the right to release any information relating to the use of the Library's computers or the Library's Wi-Fi by patrons.
2. The Library does not and cannot guarantee the validity or accuracy of information found on the Internet. Library patrons are advised, as with all Library resources and materials, to exercise judgment and discretion when evaluating the usefulness and reliability of information found on the Internet.
3. Although many valuable sources of information are located throughout the Internet, some resources and websites contain material that some patrons may find offensive or inappropriate. There are websites that are inappropriate for use or viewing in a public setting. The Library does not and cannot control the content of resources and websites found on the Internet. As a result, patrons are solely responsible for evaluating the validity, acceptability and desirability of the information found. The Library is not responsible for

Internet content, for changes in content of the sources to which the Library Web Page links or for the content of sources accessed through secondary links. The Library does have some technology protection measures in place on the Library's Wi-Fi. These protection measures, however, are imperfect and may restrict access to certain valid resources or reduce the effectiveness of the network for patrons while at the same time failing to block other invalid or inappropriate resources or websites. The connection speed to Internet resources may also be limited for the Library's Wi-Fi.

4. Any patron who uses their personal device on the Library's Wi-Fi is subject to the same filtering as the Library's computers. Unfortunately, there are other wireless networks and cellular connections within range of the Library, which are beyond the control of, and the restrictions imposed by, the Library. As a result, these non-Library connections are not subject to the same technology protection measures as those controlled by the Library. Patrons who are found to be accessing inappropriate information through these connections while on the Library premises are subject to the suspension or loss of Library privileges, among other penalties. For Responsible Parties, please be aware that your children could have access to inappropriate information when using an Internet connection other than the Library's computers or the Library's Wi-Fi, and the Library is not responsible for such access.
5. Although the Library utilizes virus-checking software, such software does not guarantee absolute protection from viruses. The Library is not responsible for any loss or damage to personal storage when downloading or to a patron's own device. Further, the Library is not responsible for any loss of data, damage, or liability that may occur from a patron's use of the Library's computers or the Library's Wi-Fi.
6. Violations of the Dixon Public Library Internet and Computer Use Policy may result in suspension or loss of privileges to use computer and Internet resources at the Library, among other penalties. Copies of the policy can be found at www.dixonpubliclibrary.org. Any illegal activity involving the use of the Library's computers or the Library's Wi-Fi, including the Internet, will be subject to prosecution by the appropriate authorities. In addition, by use of the Library's computers or the Library's Wi-Fi, patrons shall be deemed to agree to hold harmless, indemnify, and unconditionally reimburse the Library and the City of Dixon for any damage, liability, costs, claims, or expenses that the Library or the City of Dixon may incur that arises in any manner from any use or misuse of the Library's computers or the Library's Wi-Fi by a patron.

Section 27: Photography and Video Policy

A. Purpose

The library has a significant interest in maintaining an environment that allows patrons to freely access library information and resources. This significant interest requires the library to maintain policies that protect the privacy of its patrons and staff members and ensures their freedom from harassment, intimidation, and threats to their safety and well-being. In order to provide appropriate safeguards against such behavior and enforce policies and procedures addressing that behavior when it occurs, the library has adopted the following policy regarding the taking of photographs or videos inside the library building.

B. General Policy

Permission is not required for taking photographs or videos in public areas of the library building for personal, noncommercial use if no tripods, lights, or other specialized equipment is used. However, there may be library locations and/or exhibition areas where the taking of photographs or videos is restricted or prohibited (i.e., restrooms, rooms reserved for nursing, child care areas, museum artifacts, and archival materials). Taking photographs or videos of, or in, areas reserved for staff use only is also prohibited. If tripods, lights, or other specialized equipment is to be used, requests must be made at least 24 hours in advance. Persons taking photographs and videos shall not (i) compromise a patron or staff member's right to privacy, (ii) harass, intimidate, or threaten a patron or staff member, or (iii) block library aisles, walkways, stairwells, doors, or exits.

C. Exterior Photography and Videos

Taking photographs and videos outside of the library building and/or of the library grounds does not require permission. However, the activity may not impede the ingress or egress of patrons or staff to or from the library building.

D. Commercial Photography and Videos

The library may permit use of its facilities for the taking of commercial photographs or videos if the project does not interfere with the mission of the library and is in accordance with the rest of this policy. The library will charge a fee to offset costs incurred by the library to provide access to the facility and prior permission must be sought at least one week in advance.

E. Photography and Videos of Materials and Resources

The library permits the taking of photographs and videos of its publicly-available collections. However, patrons are solely responsible for obtaining consent or other permission when taking photographs or videos of copyrighted materials.

F. Library Photography, Videos, and Recording

The library may take photos, videos, and audio recordings at the library and during library events to use in its publicity materials and on its website and social media sites. The library reserves the right to document its services and the public's use of the library building and grounds. These photographs, videos, and audio recordings may be copied, displayed, televised, and published (including on any library web site or social media site). Any individual that does not wish the library to use a photograph or video of them or their child should inform a library staff member prior to or while such photographs or videos are being taken.

G. Library Board Meetings

Pursuant to Section 120/2.05 of the Illinois Open Meetings Act (5 ILCS 120/1 et seq.), any person may record the proceedings of the Library Board and other meetings required by the Act to be open to the public. The recordings may be made by tape, film or other means and shall not disrupt the meeting or create a safety hazard.

H. Liability

Persons involved in taking photographs or videos are solely liable for any injuries to persons or property that result from their activities on library property. They also have sole responsibility for obtaining all necessary releases and permissions required by law from persons who can be identified in any photograph or video or for copyrighted materials. The library undertakes no responsibility for obtaining these releases or permissions.

I. Right Subject to Compliance with Policy

The library reserves the right to ask any individual or group violating this policy to cease the taking of photographs or videos.

All transactions involving the Library's financial assets and related activity shall be administered and conducted in accordance with this Policy. In the event of any conflict between this Policy and the Illinois Public Funds Investment Act and other state laws, the provisions of the Illinois Public Funds Investment Act and other state laws shall control.

4. Investment Objectives

The Library's investment program shall be guided by the following objectives, in priority order:

A. Safety of Principal

The foremost objective is the preservation of capital. Investments shall be structured to minimize credit risk and interest rate risk.

1. Credit Risk: The Library will minimize credit risk by limiting investments to the types of securities as listed in the Authorized Investment section, prequalifying the financial institutions and broker/dealers, and diversifying the portfolio so that potential losses from one type of security or individual issuer will be minimized.
2. Interest Rate Risk: The Library will minimize interest rate risk by structuring the investment portfolio so that securities mature to meet cash requirements for ongoing operations, thereby avoiding the need to sell securities prior to maturity and investing operating funds primarily in shorter term securities.

B. Liquidity

The portfolio shall remain sufficiently liquid to meet all reasonably anticipated operating and capital expenditures.

C. Return

Within the constraints of safety and liquidity, the Library shall seek to achieve a reasonable rate of return.

D. Diversification

Diversifying instruments and maturities will avoid incurring unreasonable risks in the investment portfolio regarding specific security types, issuers or individual financial institutions. The Library shall diversify its investments to the best of its ability based on the type of funds invested and the cash flow needs of those funds. Diversification can be by type of investment, number of institutions invested in, or length of maturity.

E. Sustainability Factors

Such factors include, but are not limited to: (i) corporate governance and leadership factors; (ii) environmental factors; (iii) social capital factors; (iv) human capital factors; and (v) business model and innovation factors, as provided under the Illinois Sustainable Investment Act.

5. Standards of Care

A. Prudence: The standard of prudence to be used by investment officials shall be the “prudent person” standard and shall be applied in the context of managing an overall portfolio. Investments and deposits of public funds shall be made with judgment and care under the circumstances then prevailing, which persons of prudence, discretion, and intelligence exercise in the management of their own affairs, not for speculation, but for investment, considering the probable safety of their capital as well as the probable income to be derived. Library Board of Trustees acting in accordance with this Policy shall be relieved of personal liability for an individual security’s credit risk or market changes, provided that officers and employees report deviations from expectations in a timely fashion and take appropriate action to control adverse developments.

B. Maintaining the Public Trust: All participants in the investment process shall seek to act responsibly as custodians of the public trust and shall avoid any transaction that might impair public confidence in the Library.

C. Ethics and Conflicts of Interest: Officers and employees of the Library who are involved in the investment process shall refrain from personal business activity that could conflict with proper execution and management of the investment program, or which could impair their ability to make impartial investment decisions. those investments; or (iii) receive, in any manner, compensation of any kind from any investment in which the agency is authorized to invest. Employees and investment officials shall disclose any material interests in financial institutions with which they conduct business. They shall further disclose any material personal financial or investment positions that could be related to the performance of the Portfolio. Dixon Public Library Policy Manual

Section 30: Bulletin Board Policy

PURPOSE:

Dixon Public Library recognizes its role as a source of community information. DPL can provide the community with a limited, temporary space on bulletin boards and literature rack space (where available). These areas may be utilized by organizations within the community only to engage in informational, educational, cultural, and non-profit activities within the community. The library is not an advocate nor does it endorse the viewpoints of any group or individual that displays material. Dixon Public Library welcomes a broad spectrum of opinions and a variety of viewpoints.

POLICY:

Bulletin boards and Literature rack space will be used for the following types of information:

- Postings of forthcoming educational, social, civic, charitable, cultural, or recreational activities
- Postings by non-profit organizations, groups, agencies, or by any federal, state, or local government agency providing services to citizens
- Postings announcing community services and volunteer opportunities
- Nonpartisan election information

Bulletin boards and Literature rack space may not be used for the following types of information:

- Commercial notices, solicitations, business cards, third-party job postings, and retail advertising
- Personal notices of items for sale
- Personal solicitations for fundraisers (i.e. walkathons, auctions, galas, etc.)
- Materials that support or oppose any political candidate or ballot measure
- Materials that support or oppose a specific religious conviction.

Posting Guidelines:

- All postings must be approved by the director or designated staff member. Permission will be granted based upon limitations of display space, timeliness of the material, adherence to community standards for good taste in presentation, and relevance of the material to the community.
- Due to limited space, it is recommended that posters be no larger than 8 ½ inches by 11 inches in sizes. While larger posters may be accepted, they may be on display for a shorter time due to size. Literature regarding ongoing services by an organization should be formatted for the literature rack if possible.
- DPL reserves the right to refuse to post, the right to remove announcements, or posters which do not meet the criteria or have been posted for a reasonable length of time. Any material left for library consideration for posting, left for free distribution, or posted without approval cannot be held or returned and will be discarded.
- Items shall not be posted on adjacent walls, windows, or doors.
- All postings must be appropriate for viewing by all ages.
- DPL may limit the period of time any item may remain on display.
- DPL reserves the right to provide space for announcements which provide information to visitors or residents on a continuing basis (such as bus schedules, crisis services, etc.).

- DPL assumes no responsibility for the preservation or protection of materials posted or placed for free distribution.
- Due to limited space priority is given to library information, including that of DPL's joint facility partners.

Permission to post does not in any way constitute library endorsement of a group's policies or beliefs. Purposes, objectives, or views of groups using the bulletin board space shall not be advertised in any way to suggest that they are endorsed by DPL.

Use of the community bulletin boards and literature rack space is free of charge.

IMPLEMENTATION:

All DPL personnel shall be responsible for enforcing this policy. Postings are accepted as space permits.

Appendix A

Library Bill of Rights

The American Library Association affirms that all libraries are forums for information and ideas, and that the following basic policies should guide their services.

- I. Books and other library resources should be provided for the interest, information, and enlightenment of all people of the community the library serves. Materials should not be excluded because of the origin, background, or views of those contributing to their creation.
- II. Libraries should provide materials and information presenting all points of view on current and historical issues. Materials should not be proscribed or removed because of partisan or doctrinal disapproval.
- III. Libraries should challenge censorship in the fulfillment of their responsibility to provide information and enlightenment.
- IV. Libraries should cooperate with all persons and groups concerned with resisting abridgment of free expression and free access to ideas.
- V. A person's right to use a library should not be denied or abridged because of origin, age, background, or views.
- VI. Libraries which make exhibit spaces and meeting rooms available to the public they serve should make such facilities available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or groups requesting their use.

Adopted June 19, 1939, by the ALA Council; amended October 14, 1944; June 18, 1948; February 2, 1961; June 27, 1967; January 23, 1980; inclusion of "age" reaffirmed January 23, 1996.

Appendix B

The Freedom to Read Statement

The freedom to read is essential to our democracy. It is continuously under attack. Private groups and public authorities in various parts of the country are working to remove or limit access to reading materials, to censor content in schools, to label "controversial" views, to distribute lists of "objectionable" books or authors, and to purge libraries. These actions apparently rise from a view that our national tradition of free expression is no longer valid; that censorship and suppression are needed to counter threats to safety or national security, as well as to avoid the subversion of politics and the corruption of morals. We, as individuals devoted to reading and as librarians and publishers responsible for disseminating ideas, wish to assert the public interest in the preservation of the freedom to read.

Most attempts at suppression rest on a denial of the fundamental premise of democracy: that the ordinary individual, by exercising critical judgment, will select the good and reject the bad. We trust Americans to recognize propaganda and misinformation, and to make their own decisions about what they read and believe. We do not believe they are prepared to sacrifice their heritage of a free press in order to be "protected" against what others think may be bad for them. We believe they still favor free enterprise in ideas and expression.

These efforts at suppression are related to a larger pattern of pressures being brought against education, the press, art and images, films, broadcast media, and the Internet. The problem is not only one of actual censorship. The shadow of fear cast by these pressures leads, we suspect, to an even larger voluntary curtailment of expression by those who seek to avoid controversy or unwelcome scrutiny by government officials.

Such pressure toward conformity is perhaps natural to a time of accelerated change. And yet suppression is never more dangerous than in such a time of social tension. Freedom has given the United States the elasticity to endure strain. Freedom keeps open the path of novel and creative solutions, and enables change to come by choice. Every silencing of a heresy, every enforcement of an orthodoxy, diminishes the toughness and resilience of our society and leaves it the less able to deal with controversy and difference.

Now as always in our history, reading is among our greatest freedoms. The freedom to read and write is almost the only means for making generally available ideas or manners of expression that can initially command only a small audience. The written word is the natural medium for the new idea and the untried voice from which come the original contributions to social growth. It is essential to the extended discussion that serious thought requires, and to the accumulation of knowledge and ideas into organized collections.

We believe that free communication is essential to the preservation of a free society and a creative culture. We believe that these pressures toward conformity present the danger of limiting the range and variety of inquiry and expression on which our democracy and our culture depend. We believe that every American community must jealously guard the freedom to publish and to circulate, in order to preserve its own freedom to read. We believe that publishers and librarians have a profound responsibility to give validity to that freedom to read by making it possible for the readers to choose freely from a variety of offerings.

The freedom to read is guaranteed by the Constitution. Those with faith in free people will stand firm on these constitutional guarantees of essential rights and will exercise the responsibilities that accompany these rights.

We therefore affirm these propositions:

1. It is in the public interest for publishers and librarians to make available the widest diversity of views and expressions, including those that are unorthodox, unpopular, or considered dangerous by the majority.
2. Creative thought is by definition new, and what is new is different. The bearer of every new thought is a rebel until that idea is refined and tested. Totalitarian systems attempt to maintain themselves in power by the ruthless suppression of any concept that challenges the established orthodoxy. The power of a democratic system to adapt to change is vastly strengthened by the freedom of its citizens to choose widely from among conflicting opinions offered freely to them. To stifle every nonconformist idea at birth would mark the end of the democratic process. Furthermore, only through the constant activity of weighing and selecting can the democratic mind attain the strength demanded by times like these. We need to know not only what we believe but why we believe it.
3. Publishers, librarians, and booksellers do not need to endorse every idea or presentation they make available. It would conflict with the public interest for them to establish their own political, moral, or aesthetic views as a standard for determining what should be published or circulated.
4. Publishers and librarians serve the educational process by helping to make available knowledge and ideas required for the growth of the mind and the increase of learning. They do not foster education by imposing as mentors the patterns of their own thought. The people should have the freedom to read and consider a broader range of ideas than those that may be held by any single librarian or publisher or government or church. It is wrong that what one can read should be confined to what another thinks proper.

5. It is contrary to the public interest for publishers or librarians to bar access to writings on the basis of the personal history or political affiliations of the author.
6. No art or literature can flourish if it is to be measured by the political views or private lives of its creators. No society of free people can flourish that draws up lists of writers to whom it will not listen, whatever they may have to say.
7. There is no place in our society for efforts to coerce the taste of others, to confine adults to the reading matter deemed suitable for adolescents, or to inhibit the efforts of writers to achieve artistic expression.
8. To some, much of modern expression is shocking. But is not much of life itself shocking? We cut off literature at the source if we prevent writers from dealing with the stuff of life. Parents and teachers have a responsibility to prepare the young to meet the diversity of experiences in life to which they will be exposed, as they have a responsibility to help them learn to think critically for themselves. These are affirmative responsibilities, not to be discharged simply by preventing them from reading works for which they are not yet prepared. In these matters values differ, and values cannot be legislated; nor can machinery be devised that will suit the demands of one group without limiting the freedom of others.
9. It is not in the public interest to force a reader to accept the prejudgment of a label characterizing any expression or its author as subversive or dangerous.
10. The ideal of labeling presupposes the existence of individuals or groups with wisdom to determine by authority what is good or bad for others. It presupposes that individuals must be directed in making up their minds about the ideas they examine. But Americans do not need others to do their thinking for them.
11. It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians, as guardians of the people's freedom to read, to contest encroachments upon that freedom by individuals or groups seeking to impose their own standards or tastes upon the community at large; and by the government whenever it seeks to reduce or deny public access to public information.
12. It is inevitable in the give and take of the democratic process that the political, the moral, or the aesthetic concepts of an individual or group will occasionally collide with those of another individual or group. In a free society individuals are free to determine for themselves what they wish to read, and each group is free to determine what it will recommend to its freely associated members. But no group has the right to take the law into its own hands, and to impose its own concept of politics or morality upon other members of a democratic society. Freedom is no freedom if it is accorded only to the accepted and the inoffensive. Further, democratic societies are more safe, free, and creative when the free flow of public information is not restricted by governmental prerogative or self-censorship.

13. It is the responsibility of publishers and librarians to give full meaning to the freedom to read by providing books that enrich the quality and diversity of thought and expression. By the exercise of this affirmative responsibility, they can demonstrate that the answer to a "bad" book is a good one, the answer to a "bad" idea is a good one.
14. The freedom to read is of little consequence when the reader cannot obtain matter fit for that reader's purpose. What is needed is not only the absence of restraint, but the positive provision of opportunity for the people to read the best that has been thought and said. Books are the major channel by which the intellectual inheritance is handed down, and the principal means of its testing and growth. The defense of the freedom to read requires of all publishers and librarians the utmost of their faculties, and deserves of all Americans the fullest of their support.

We state these propositions neither lightly nor as easy generalizations. We here stake out a lofty claim for the value of the written word. We do so because we believe that it is possessed of enormous variety and usefulness, worthy of cherishing and keeping free. We realize that the application of these propositions may mean the dissemination of ideas and manners of expression that are repugnant to many persons. We do not state these propositions in the comfortable belief that what people read is unimportant. We believe rather that what people read is deeply important; that ideas can be dangerous; but that the suppression of ideas is fatal to a democratic society. Freedom itself is a dangerous way of life, but it is ours.

Code of Ethics of the American Library Association

As members of the American Library Association, we recognize the importance of codifying and making known to the profession and to the general public the ethical principles that guide the work of librarians, other professionals providing information services, library trustees and library staffs.

Ethical dilemmas occur when values are in conflict. The American Library Association Code of Ethics states the values to which we are committed, and embodies the ethical responsibilities of the profession in this changing information environment.

We significantly influence or control the selection, organization, preservation, and dissemination of information. In a political system grounded in an informed citizenry, we are members of a profession explicitly committed to intellectual freedom and the freedom of access to information. We have a special obligation to ensure the free flow of information and ideas to present and future generations.

The principles of this Code are expressed in broad statements to guide ethical decision making. These statements provide a framework; they cannot and do not dictate conduct to cover particular situations.

I. We provide the highest level of service to all library users through appropriate and usefully organized resources; equitable service policies; equitable access; and accurate, unbiased, and courteous responses to all requests.

II. We uphold the principles of intellectual freedom and resist all efforts to censor library resources.

III. We protect each library user's right to privacy and confidentiality with respect to information sought or received and resources consulted, borrowed, acquired or transmitted.

IV. We recognize and respect intellectual property rights.

V. We treat co-workers and other colleagues with respect, fairness and good faith, and advocate conditions of employment that safeguard the rights and welfare of all employees of our institutions.

VI. We do not advance private interests at the expense of library users, colleagues, or our employing institutions.

VII. We distinguish between our personal convictions and professional duties and do not allow our personal beliefs to interfere with fair representation of the aims of our institutions or the provision of access to their information resources.

VIII. We strive for excellence in the profession by maintaining and enhancing our own knowledge and skills, by encouraging the professional development of co-workers, and by fostering the aspirations of potential members of the profession.
